

House Republicans now accepting intern applications for 2013 legislative session

The 2013 House Republican Intern Program is open to college students and graduates and is recommended to those who would like to gain professional experience as well as learn more about the legislative process.

Individuals interested in the internship program may consider four different concentrations when applying: member services, media, computer/technology and policy/fiscal. For a detailed description of each concentration and additional information concerning the internship program and to apply, please visit our 2013 Intern Program page. Applications for the 2013 session must be submitted by October 31, 2012.

If you know someone who may be interested in our full-time internship program, please share this information with them by clicking the icon above or here to forward this message.
